(Special to The Evening World.)

MANHATTAN FIELD, Oct. 20.—A day a trifle too warm for football, but of an ethereal mildness which permitted many admirers of the Champion Princeton team and Cornell eleven to wear ravishing toilets, brought a splendid representative football attendance.

By 2:45 Capt. Trenchard and big "Beet" Wheeler were kicking goals under the tutelage of Alexander Moffat, the entire Cornell team, headed by Coach Marshall Nesbitt, of Harvard, sitting on the clubhouse balcony watching them. Manager Munn, of Princeton, had insisted upon some fifty press badges, so the lines promised to be crowded with the usual mob of suburban coaches, prominent alumni and general throng of unofficial patrons.

The eleven lined up as follows:

Princeton	Position	Cornell
Trenchard	Right End	Tausig
Wheeler	Right Tackle	Wheeler
Wheeler	Right Guard	Wheeler
Wheeler	Left End	Wheeler
Wheeler	Left Tackle	Wheeler
Wheeler	Left Guard	Wheeler
Wheeler	Quarter-back	Wheeler
Wheeler	Half-back	Wheeler
Wheeler	Full-back	Wheeler

The game was called off at 3:00 P. M.
Princeton's first play was a punt. The kick was good, and the ball landed in the hands of the Princeton players. The kick was good, and the ball landed in the hands of the Princeton players.

Time was called while Wyckoff replaced his torn shirt. Ohl returned the kick of Burt, who was down on Princeton's ten-yard line. On a revolving wedge Princeton gained six yards. Barnett plunged through center for ten yards, and Wheeler dived for five yards.
Barnett went eight yards through right tackle. McCormick dived for five yards.
Wheeler gained fifteen yards through freedom. McCormick bucked ahead for three yards. The ball then carried three Cornell men on his back yards. Mason dived for five yards. around the end.

Cornell got the ball on fumbles. Ohl kicked thirty yards to Burt. McCormick pushed through the center by Brown, and gained ten yards in splendid shape. Cornell then dived for five yards holding on the line. Ohl punted to Burt, who was down in his track for fifteen yards.

Cornell was breaking the interference remarkably well. Wyckoff tackling cap-tally. Barnett and McCormick tried the ends, but made a couple of yards. McCormick slammed through Capt. Warner and Pennell for three yards. Barnett dived for five yards.
Wheeler gained five yards. Barnett plunged through center for ten yards, and Wheeler dived for five yards.

Wheeler surveyed the work and smiled significantly. Harry Brown made a running catch of the pun and ran thirty yards. Ohl tackled him. Barnett crowded through center for ten yards and again through right tackle for ten yards.

Wheeler kicked to Ohl, who ran ten yards and then kicked thirty yards.
McCormick twice hurried himself through the line for five and ten yards. Time for the first half was then called.

Cornell men were in high feather over their prospects of beating Harvard here next Saturday. The crowd on the stadium numbered in the thousands, and as many were on the north side stands and in the grand stand. Cornell men began singing college songs in unison as Ivy college youths can.

At last year's game at Princeton, 46; Cornell, 6, and the rejoicing at the showing in the first half was profound and vociferous.

PECKHAM WRITES A LETTER.

Says Any Democrat Would Prefer Mr. Wheeler to Mr. Hill.

The following letter was given out at the Wheeler campaign headquarters today:

New York, Oct. 19, 1894.

My Dear Sir: In response to your inquiry as to whether my letter to Mr. Grant would say that my opinion of Mr. Hill was that he was not fit to be Mayor, even if the result of the election was that he was elected, I would say that I would not say that. I would say that I would not say that.

Seven hundred and fifty certificates nominating the Committee of L. X. X. city and county, the Democratic Reform Organization were filed with the Police Commissioners this morning. About eight hundred municipal certificates will be filed this evening.

The notary securing signatures in the dry-goods district yesterday said that he had secured 350 signatures in three wholesale stores.

PASSED SPURIOUS BILLS.

Alphonse Sterioza, One of an Alleged Gang of Counterfeiters, Held.

United States Commissioner Shields this afternoon resumed the examination of Alphonse Sterioza, and Louis Giuseppe, two of the gang of counterfeiters recently arrested by Secret Service agents and charged with passing counterfeit coin. Sterioza ostensibly kept a barber shop at 111 West Twenty-sixth street and Giuseppe was a waiter.

Victor Brush, one of the gang arrested, testified that in August last, at 111 West Twenty-sixth street, Sterioza told him he would help him to make some money.
Sterioza gave him two $5 silver bills, which he said were counterfeit. Sterioza gave him $1 each profit on them. The witness passed them for $4 and divided the money between himself and Sterioza.

Sterioza was held for the United States Grand Jury in bonds of $10,000. Giuseppe, who had assisted the secret service officers, was discharged.

A SUICIDE AT SEA?

Miss Mills Missing from the Umbria on Its Arrival Here.

A second-class passenger, named Miss Mills, is supposed to have committed suicide on the Cunarder Umbria on its arrival here.

The morning of Oct. 18 her traveling companion, Miss McKiver, missed her, and in consequence of her detention, her disappearance to the ship's officers.

No trace of the woman could be found, and the captain, Miss Mills, and he would have committed suicide.

Miss Mills was a native of England, and had been married to a man who was killed in the Boer war.

Her companion says that while she did not know the woman, she had been attending Mrs. Baker's training-school for miserables, with the intention of going to India.

Adler Lost His Job and Wants $20,000 Damages.

A suit for $20,000 damages was transferred yesterday from the Court of Common Pleas to the United States Circuit Court, in which Charles Adler is complaining against the Old Colony Steamboat Company.

Adler engaged passage at Fall River Sept. 10 last, and the morning when he was leaving the Piglir he had some difficulty about his ticket. He alleges that the officers of the boat assaulted him and dragged him to the purser's office, where he was kept for three hours, meantime refusing to let him communicate with his wife.

In consequence of his detention, Adler says he lost a position in this city at $40 a week, and for this and other damages he seeks $20,000.

MRS. WISSIC AFTER GRANT.

The Ex-Assemblyman's Wife Will Invade His Quarters with War Paint On.

And Intimates that He Could Make It Warm for the Latter if He'd Only Talk.

"SILVER DOLLAR" WILL STICK.

Says Tim Sullivan Has Told Him to Run and that He Presents to Do It.

There is trouble in store for Hugh J.
Grant, Tammany's new candidate for Mayor.

The wife of a man he proposes to "turn down" has declared her intention of invading Mr. Grant's headquarters in the Union Square Hotel for the purpose of giving him a piece of her mind—in fact, a very large and bitter piece of it.

Is she can get within hailing distance of the bachelor candidate she will say things to him that may hurt his feelings and injure his self-esteem.

And for her own protection she may take along a body-guard of females from the Third Assembly District, women who know how to talk fast and right to the point.

Just when the attack is to be made has not been definitely stated, probably because the intending invader does not want Mr. Grant to know.

The woman in question is Mrs. Phil Wissic, wife of the ex-Assemblyman from the Third District, who is again a candidate and who Mr. Grant thinks ought to get off the ticket because of his conduct in relation to a candidate who he made in the Assembly chamber.

Wissic will get practically decided to withdraw from the Assembly place, in deference to the wishes of Hugh J. Grant, Mr. Wissic's wife has declared for war, not only against Grant, but the entire Tammany ticket. She will also try to induce her husband to run anyhow, but she is not satisfied it would be cowardly to turn his back on the enemy.

Wissic and his wife were in consultation with "Tim" Sullivan, the district leader, as late as 3 o'clock this morning.
So was "Silver Dollar" Charley Smith.
The latter would have said that "I will run anyhow." Alderman Smith said this morning to an "Evening World" reporter: "It is possible that I may have been one of the men whom Mr. Grant had in mind when he referred to objecting to a candidate who he made in the Assembly chamber."

A striking fact in connection with the case is the difference of opinion regarding the exact nature of the malady from which he is suffering.

The Paris Figaro to-day declares that the symptoms disagree with the usual symptoms of kidney disease and states that there is a conflicting side to the case, which has perplexed his physicians.

Prof. Leyden, however, was more optimistic, and after a careful study of the symptoms, expressed the belief that it was a benign tumor, and that it was of a benign nature and curable.

The Figaro then proceeds to make the startling charge that the case has been badly nursed, and that the arrangements for his care were quite of a primitive nature. This statement is somewhat unkind, as it is known that the case has been the faithful nursing of the faithful nursing, who, according to rumor, has been breaking down under the strain of attending continually upon her dying husband.

There is no doubt that, outside of Russia, the greatest concern for the health of the Czar is felt in France.

The Temps, in an article which may be regarded as an expression of the general feeling of the French people, says that there is not a corner of France where prayers have not been offered for the recovery of the Czar, and not a household in France where his illness is not the chief topic of conversation.

The Czar, since the fete at Toulon, following the arrival there of the Russian squadron under Admiral Avellan, has everywhere in the French Republic been considered as the life ally of France, and one could hardly enter a peasant's cottage or a farm-house without finding that the central picture therein displayed on the walls is the colored print which was distributed broadly at the time of the Russian festivities. This print represents the Czar as offering his hand to the late President Carnot, with the masts of the Cronstadt and Toulon squadrons in the background. The print referred to is to be found even in the most out of the way spots.

In Berlin interest in the dying Czar is enhanced by the anxiety felt respecting the possible political consequences of his death, and especially in regard to the marriage of the Czarowitz to a Ger-
